GROENLAND

FRANCE

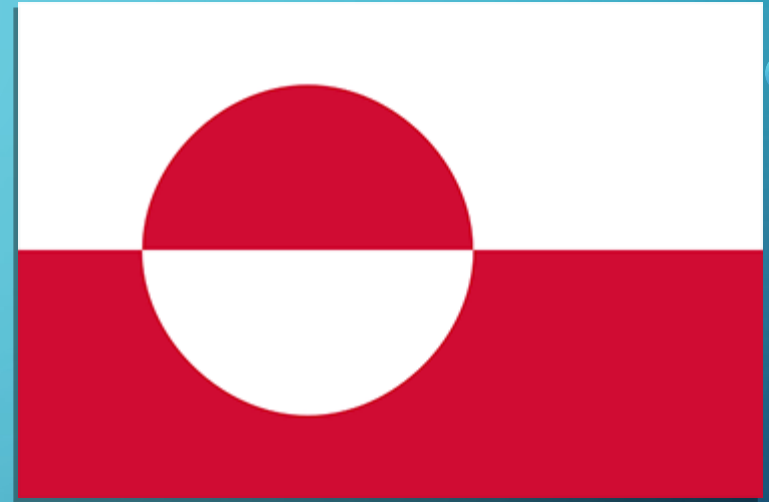

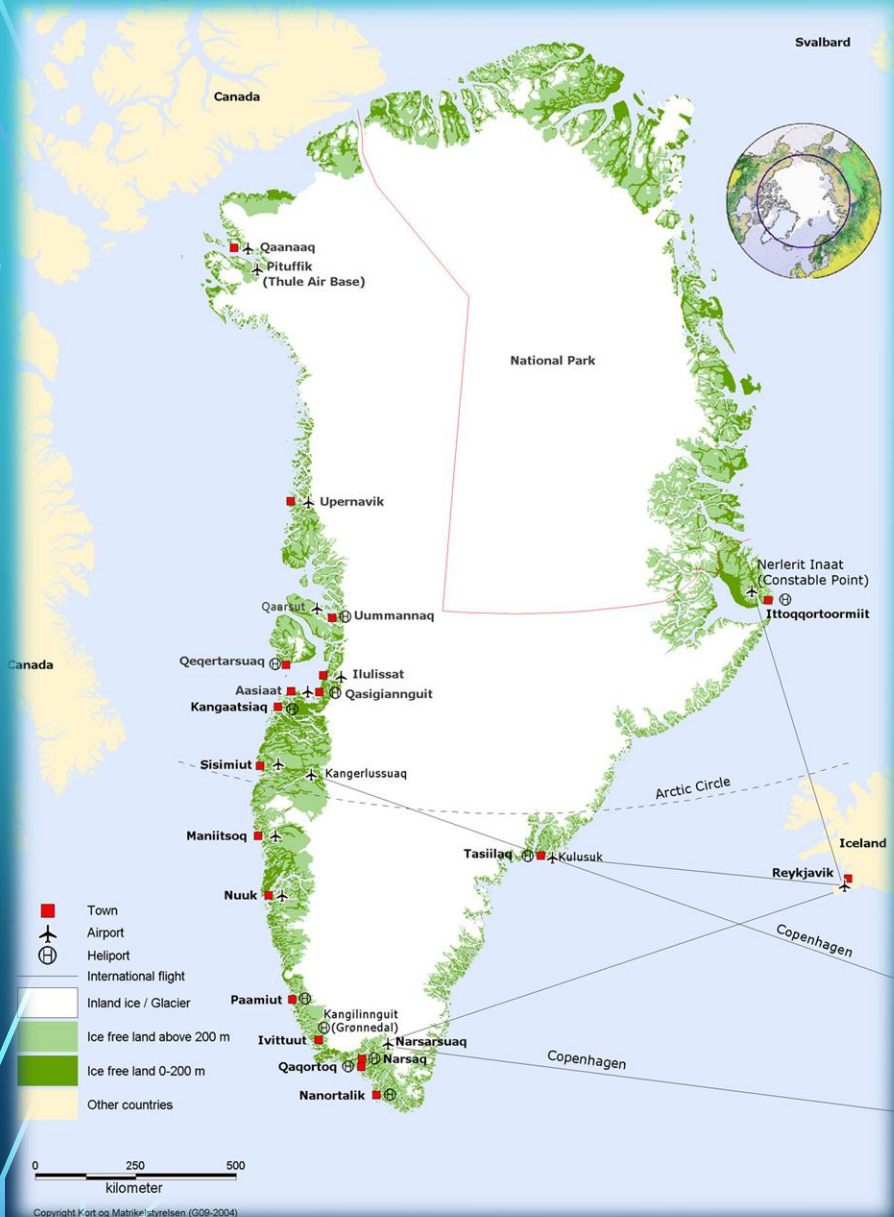

GROENLAND

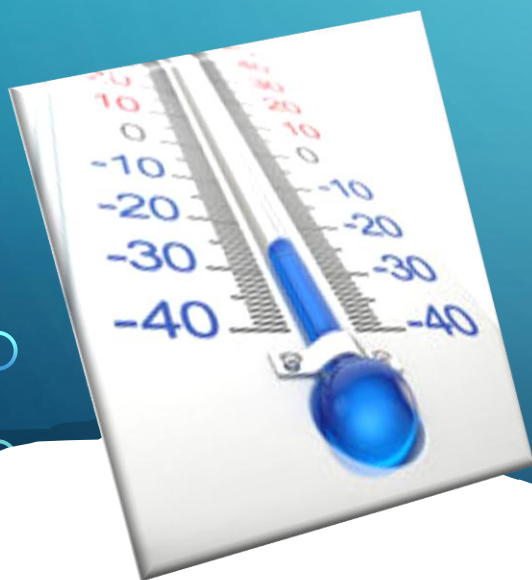

Selon le créateur du drapeau, la partie blanche supérieure du pavillon représente les glaciers, qui recouvrent 80 % de l'île. La partie rouge inférieure représente, elle, la mer. Le demi-cercle rouge rappelle le soleil et le demi-cercle blanc évoque quant à lui les icebergs qui dérivent au large du pays. Le drapeau rappelle aussi le soleil couchant se reflétant dans la mer.

Le Groenland est une immense île de plus de deux millions de kilomètres carrés (presque quatre fois la France)

Le climat du Groenland est globalement arctique et froid, mais varie beaucoup selon les régions.

En hiver, dans le Nord du Groenland, le soleil disparaît presque totalement pendant plus de trois mois. La température moyenne est de -30°C et il souffle un vent violent.

Seuls des ferrys, et plus rarement des avions, relient les villages entre eux en été. En hiver, des hélicoptères permettent d'assurer certains ravitaillements des villages pour la plupart isolés par la banquise.
